

A.P. Golden Boy, No king rules forever

(intro)

There was a time in my life I was good I prayed I was nice to people I had a pure heart but everything changed in a day when I decided to become .. a westcoast rapper

(rapping)

Now I cannot see the same guy when I take a look at the mirror this soul is corrupted by music which often brings horror my friends are scared what happened to my brain

I'm always ready to share with them my pain

It's not true I cannot love anymore it's just battle inside of me it's like war and the people who know that are also bound by this chain and are not gonna spend this time in vain there are stories of kings and empires that passed although millions of people thought gonna last forever without fate based on blood and sword shall rule and kill using true name of the Lord

I'm not fool and I clearly see what is going that my world and my rules friends are falling you will never see me the same neva looking at my eyes you'll know no king rules foreva
