

A Perfect Circle, Disillusioned

dopamine
on dopamine
dopamine
on dopamine
dopamine
on dopamine

we have been overrun by animal desire addicts of the immediate keep us obedient and unaware feeding this mutation, this pavlovian despair

we've become disillusioned so we run towards anything glimmering time to put the silicon obsession down take a look around, find a way in the silence lie supine away with your back to the ground dis and re connect to the resonance now you were never an Island Unique voice among the many in this choir tuning on to each other lift all higher

dopamine
on dopamine
dopamine
on dopamine

willingly been rewinded by clever agents within looping our reflections, our obsessions draw us in fix and fixation, no sentience beyond

we've become disillusioned
so we dive like crows towards anything glittering

time to put the silicon obsession down
take a look around, find a way in the silence
lie supine away with your back to the ground
dis and re connect to the resonance now
you were never an Island
Unique voice among the many in this choir
tuning on to each other lift all higher