

Abney Park, Bleed You

And I need you
And I grieve you, darlin'
And I bleed you
But I still see what I will be
And I need you
Further away from me & longer you stay
I see that our love's not growing stronger everyday
And I need you
And I grieve you, darlin'
And I bleed you
But I still see what I will be
And I need you
No longer do I wish I'll feel the end of life
For it's been now many years since I first caused you strife
And I need you
And I grieve you, darlin'
And I bleed you
But I still see what I will be
And I need you
How much better would your life be if you had not found me
So it seems my presence only brings you apathy
And I need you
And I grieve you, darlin'
And I bleed you
But I still see what I will be
And I need you
When I do what I will
That kind of love seems to kill
All the faith, all the trust
What's my chance that a glance, unhappy circumstance
Oh my God, what a rush
Only you indicate, only you implicate any form of distrust
Can't you see it should be me
Your apathy in a way only causes distrust
And I need you
And I grieve you, darlin'
And I bleed you
But I still see what I will be
And I need you
Further away from me & longer you stay
I see that my hold's not growing stronger everyday
And I need you
And I grieve you, darlin'
And I bleed you
But I still see what I will be
And I need you
And I need you
And I grieve you, darlin'
And I bleed you
But I still see what I will be
And I need you
