Abney Park, The Root Of All Evil

All these roots run deep And this tree is old This trunk is rotten All these leaves have mold

Is it in our blood? Or is it from abuse? Past generations Legacy of misuse?

I know my blood runs hot And I've seen my blood is thick I'm told my bloods not sweet And I cry: My soul is sick

We're the childern of childern And we're handing down their pain The root of all evil Is the sanity left to gain?

We were the victims, we were the culprits We were the children who cry at night We are the hunted, and we do the hurting We are the childern who cry at night

The fathers father father May have made this truth Or was it in his blood This legacy of abuse

We're the childern of childern And wer'e handing down there pain The root of all evil Is the sanity left to gain?

We were the victims, we were the culprits We were the children who cry at night We are the hunted, and we do the hurting We are the childern who cry at night

All these roots run deep And this tree is old This trunk is rotten All these leaves have mold

Is it in our blood? Or is it from abuse? Past generations Legacy of misuse?

We were the victims, we were the culprits We were the children who cry at night We are the hunted, and we do the hurting We are the childern who cry at night

We were the victims, we were the culprits We were the children who cry at night We are the hunted, and we do the hurting We are the childern who cry at night
