Alan Jackson, A Little Bluer Than That

(Mark Irwin/Irene Kelley)

Well tonight if you turn your radio on You might hear a sad, sad song About someone who lost everything they had It may sound like me But I'm a little bluer than that

When you look out in the morning you might see Clouds rollin' by like memories And a big old sky above you lookin' back You may think of me But I'm a little bluer than that

Where did we go wrong I wish I knew It haunts me all the time Now wherever I go and Whatever I do You're always on my mind

I can picture you in his arms tonight But as for me it don't feel right To let us fade like some old photograph It may work for you But I'm a little bluer than that

Where did we go wrong I wish I knew It haunts me all the time Now wherever I go and Whatever I do You're always on my mind

So tonight if you turn your radio on You might hear a sad, sad song About someone who lost everything they had It may sound like me But I'm a little bluer than that

You may think of me But I'm a little bluer than that
