

Alessandra, Narcissist

You look at me with those eyes those eyes
I feel like I'm in paradise, paradise
God I know
it's too good to be true

After a couple months passed, we're past you needed someone new, found a new flex
God I know
I'm in it to lose

Can't you see I'm crying
Can't you see I'm broken still falling for the same old tricks you're a broken heart that can't be fixed

Giving me the whole world
Then set it all on fire
'Cause you do it for the hell of it
You're a goddamn narcissist

I'm hating how my head works, heart hurts
You leave me at my worst, I put you first
All I know It's killing me how you're looking at me looking at me crawling, calling, begging you to come back So pathetic, how I need you here to breathe And you're not even missing me

Can't you see I'm crying
Can't you see I'm broken
still falling for the same old tricks
you're a broken heart that can't be fixed

Giving me the whole world
Then set it all on fire
'Cause you do it for the hell of it
You're a goddamn narcissist

So I run to the car leave you in the past driving fast, driving far When you call me hurting I won't flinch I won't fall and I'll do it for the hell of it Even I can be a narcissist / even I can play the narcissist
