Anna Jantar, Dancing in Your Arms

Dancing in your arms It's good to be Lost in all your charms It's good to be Feeling out of home It's good to be Don't say our love affair is true Must we close the door to happiness It's you that I adore, well can't you guess? Can't stand any more this loneliness Please give me a last rendez-vous! Blue the sky and green the grass So goes the simple saying But who will teach me not to cry When I loose everything? Dancing In your arms It's good to be Lost in all your charms It's good to be Feeling out of home It's good to be Don't say our love affair is true Must we close the door to happiness It's you that I adore, well can't you guess? Can't stand any more this loneliness Please give me a last rendez-vous! Blue the sky and green the grass So goes the simple saying But who will teach me not to cry When I loose everything? Blue the sky and green the grass So goes the simple saying But who will teach me not to cry When I loose everything?