

Armin Van Buuren, Heading Up High (feat. Kensington)

See, when you're holding on to all that you can't be
Know that all there's to gain lies within arm's reach
For the flaw lies in your head not in your heart
See, how the darkest night will soon bring light again

Now we're heading up high
Where no harm will get in our way
Will we never touch ground again
Now it's a long way down
Now we're heading up high
Will we never touch ground again
Now it's a long way down
Now it's a long way down

See, when you holding on to all but you can't breath
Know the down lies in your hands just let your heart, speak
And the darkest light will soon burn bright again