

Bananarama, What Colour R The Skies Where U

It seems forever since you went away
My life is empty and my world is gray
I keep on hoping that the sun will shine
And the pain I feel will fade away with time
I sit and wonder, how do you sleep
And if my heart, you still keep
I hope in time, you can forgive
Tell me, what color r the skies where u live
If I had wings, I'd fly to you
I'd turn your gray skies back to crystal blue
If I had wings, I'd fly away
Forget the hurt of yesterday, yesterday
I shot the arrow straight through your heart
But I didn't mean for us to part
Thought it was greener on the other side
I learnt my lesson, now its my turn to cry
I watch the sun, set deepest red
And still remember the things we said
I hope in time that you can forgive
Tell me, what colour r the skies where u live
If I had wings, I'd fly to you
I'd turn your gray skies back to crystal blue
If I had wings, I'd fly away
Forget the hurt of yesterday, yesterday
I sit and wonder, how do you sleep
And if my heart, you still keep
I hope in time, you can forgive
Tell me, what color r the skies where u live
If I had wings, I'd fly to you
I'd turn your gray skies back to crystal blue
If I had wings, I'd fly away
Forget the hurt of yesterday, yesterday
If I had wings, I'd fly to you
I'd turn your gray skies back to crystal blue
If I had wings, I'd fly away
Forget the hurt of yesterday, yesterday
If I had wings, I'd fly to you
I'd turn your gray skies back to crystal blue
If I had wings, I'd fly away
Forget the hurt of yesterday, yesterday
...