

Bebe Rexha, Champagne

It's getting really dark in here
The only thing I taste is fear
You shouldn't see me like this
You don't want to see me conscious
It's getting really cold in here
The only thing I see is fear
You shouldn't see me like this
You don't want to see me conscious

'Cause I'm not what you use to know
'Cause I'm turning ice cold

'Cause I've lost half of me and I'm better off lonely
That's why I don't return your calls
That's why I'm always in off the walls
You don't know who I've become. You have no idea
And now I'm drowning
I'm drowning in champagne
It's taking over my brain

I see two of everything and now I feel okay
It's running through my veins
I'm living but I'm half alive
It's better off this way
So I won't feel the pain
Don't wanna feel the fame or feel the shame inside my soul

No, I'm not what you use to know
'Cause I'm turning ice cold

'Cause I've lost half of me and I'm better off lonely
That's why I don't return your calls
That's why I'm always off the walls
You don't know who I've become. You have no idea
And now I'm drowning
I'm drowning in champagne
It's taking over my brain

And I don't want anyone to rescue me just let me drown in my misery all alone
All alone

'Cause I've lost half of me and I'm better off lonely
That's why I don't return your calls
That's why I'm always off the walls
You don't know who I've become. You have no idea
And now I'm drowning
I'm drowning in champagne
It's taking over my brain
