Belly, Spaceman

I can see the heat pour off of me I can see it burns you too, brother I can see the strength you took from me I can see it zapped you too, brother But we're not angels We're not fools Danger, danger I can see your allegiance to me I can see that I'm no fun anymore I can see the way you put your arm out to me And I'm no fun anymore But we're not an angels We're not fool Danger, danger She said, "I'm not a unicorn You'll always find another one"

"And you're not a dying sun
There's always another ray to your heart"
I'm holding out
I'm holding out for a spaceman, for a spaceman
For a spaceman, for the spaceman
She said, "I'm not a unicorn
Go out and get another one"
You're not a dying sun
There's always another ray to your heart"
I'm holding out
I'm holding out for a spaceman, for a spaceman
For a spaceman, for the spaceman
I can see the heat pour off of me
I can see it burns you too