

Big Head Todd And The Monsters, Elvis

Somewhere underneath the smoke and light
Oh the King, he sings of heaven.
Yes, he believes there's a paradise
And a band is playing there.

Outside there's a black car waiting
Filled with lovely ladies for celebration
He wipes the tears from his eyes
For all his lonely lovemaking

Oh yeah. Whenever will you love me?
Yeah yeah yeah babe. Whenever will you love me?

Flowers fall at his feet
Blink through the lights of suspicious minds
Oh, I know someday, you'll find your feet
I know you'll find your peace of mind

Oh, yeah. Whenever will you love me?
Yeah yeah yeah, babe. Whenever will you love me?
Yeah yeah yeah, babe. Whenever will you love me?

Somewhere underneath the smoke and lights
Oh the King, he sings of heaven.
Yes, I'm sure there's a paradise
And brother, he is playing there.

Oh, yeah. Whenever will you love me?
Yeah yeah yeah, babe. Whenever will you love me?
Yeah yeah yeah, babe. Whenever will you love me?
