

Big Head Todd And The Monsters, Lost Child Astronaut

Traveled o'er 1000 spring times
across many distant lands.
Patiently she followed me everywhere.
The first love I ever had.

Shipwrecked on a secret island.
South where the warm winds blow.
There we thought we'd laugh forever
telling stories by the late two moon glow.

Lost child astronaut
crash at the speed of light and spin me off.
In my dragonfly without a care.
Blues child, forgotten child, I'll take you there.

Darkness and space surrounding.
Bending the light that fell my way.
Stuck at the edge of the galaxy,
whose radio waves they signal so faint.

Lost child astronaut
crash at the speed of light and spin me off.
In my dragonfly without a care.
Blues child, forgotten child, I'll take you there.
