Caskey, U Don't Really Love Me (ft. Angel Hill)

Love me, love me
You don't really love me
Love me, love me
You don't really love me,

I give too much trust (I give too much trust)
Never get enough back from you
This ain't what it was (this ain't what it was)
This shit always comes back to you

Gave my heart to the game and I ain't get shit in return for it
It come to those who want it most you gotta yearn for it
You live you learn
And lord knows that I done learned from it
The shit I been thru it could turn stomachs
I got scars on my body
Cigars on Bacardi
As I'm riding thru the hills I see stars out the 'rarri
Doing things I said I'd never do
Momma I'm sorry
I don't bring the entourage to the party
Cuz y'all don't really

Love me, love me
You don't really love me
Love me, love me
You don't really love me,

I give too much trust (I give too much trust)
Never get enough back from you
This ain't what it was (this ain't what it was)
This shit always comes back to you

Aye searching for love in this rap game
Sorta like online dating on tinder
If you want something genuine well that's time wasted
I put people on never got a thing in return
They was kinda hating
Learned from it now you will never hear their name brought up in a conversation
Scars from my own friends
Plus the people I don't know a deadly combination
Put a chip on my shoulder I want total domination
Compilation of my life flashed before my eyes
Thought that I was near death it was intoxicating
Cryptic message from my pops
Cuz I only ever see him in the constellations
Contemplating what my life is and what life ain't
In dire need of some consomation
Cuz they say I can but my own head saying I can't You ever put 10 years in a dream still fearing that it might tank?
And no one ever reaching down to give a helping hand from the high ranks
That's this shit
The black sheep cuz I always felt like a misfit
The waves everyone was riding on I missed it
But really I didn't miss a thing
Cuz it only made me self sufficient and more artistic
They don't love you man you gotta be realistic
