East West, Wake

And now I see the end, And everything is gone, As I begin to move, and I begin to see. And all I want to do, Is be in here with you, And all I want from you, is to see your face. You will wake me. And now I see this life, As it begins to shine, And I begin to see, Just what's inside of me. Now I wait here broken, Waiting to see you, Eyes wide open. All I wanted is to see your face.