Echo & The Bunnymen, Candleland

Get your handleful of rememberance For you to sprinkle through your life In between the penance That you carry by your side With the make belief and the miracles That only come alive

In Candleland Candleland

Wear your guilt like skin
And keep your sins disguised
Take some salt and sugar
And rub it in your eyes
You'll know that something's left you
Just as you arrive

In Candleland Candleland

I walked back inside me
I'd gone back from my youth
As I came down the fire escape
It must have stayed up on the roof
They say you just know
And the knowing is the proof

Of Candleland Candleland Candleland Candleland Candleland Candleland Candle The candleland