

Edenbrigde, On The Verge Of Infinity

time what is time, a remnant of hope a line to oblivion where we`re on the rope and your sun is set, a pale silhouette on the sly the pride of the season`s turning the providence is concerning all of us then, the question of when in our minds

[pre-chorus]

lightly come and lighty go from source to sea we flow we can never pitch our hopes too high (and be)

[chorus]

on the verge of infinity on the edge of this heavenborn starlight feel the boundless serenity in a pencil of light farewell to the past and the future into the galactic rainbow i ride now and forever i`ll be in infinity time what is time, a terrestrial lore a rock in the surf we`ve been living for a line in the sand, the future in hand by a dream and when the whole world`s glided through our hands misguided an ordeal by fire, a dance on a wire without end

[pre-chorus]

[chorus]

by far you will see, this immensity make leeway endeavor for more follow me there, this journey we share we ride on a lavender dream

(infinity)

the rainbow of starlight will wait

(infinity)

ride on the passage where time has no meaning at all (on the verge of infinity)

now and forever we`re leaving the future behind for infinity