Elan, Another Woman

Spend most of your time looking in a mirror Same face you saw yesterday Why won't you give yourself a break, darling Take a walk outside your mind for a change

(Chorus:)

Find yourself another woman (another woman) Find yourself another way Find yourself another woman (another woman) Find yourself what you call a one night stand

Spend most of your time talking 'bout the weather Then it's cold outside and you won't really care I'd say you're just a little spoiled, pretty boy You walked the line, but you stayed far behind

(Chorus)

'Cause it's a long way back from what it used to be I feel a little torn up A little broken up And this time I think it's over

Find yourself another woman, another woman Uh, find yourself another woman, find yourself another way Uh, find yourself another woman
