Elvis Costello, Lovers That Never Were

(McCartney/MacManus)

I have always needed somebody, girl But I close the doors to keep out the world But for you I would be here all alone Locked in a photograph

All of the clocks have run down Lover beware We'll be the lovers that never were

I hang patiently on every word you send Will we ever be much more than just friends? As for you You sit there playing this game You keep me waiting

When all of the clocks have run down All over the world We'll be the lovers that never were

For as long as the sun shines
In somebody's eyes
I believe in you, baby
So don't tell me lies
For as long as the trees
Throw down blossoms and leaves
I know there will be
A parade of unpainted dreams

And I know, dear How much it's going to hurt If you still refuse to get your hands dirty So you You must tell me something...I love you Say goodbye or anything

All of the clocks have run down Time's at an end If we can't be lovers we'll never be friends

For as long as the sun shines
In somebody's eyes
I believe in you, baby
So don't tell me lies
For as long as the trees
Throw down blossoms and leaves
I know there will be
A parade of unpainted dreams
