

Emma Bunton, Too Many Teardrops

Love is a serious game
I don't know the rules you were playing I gave you the keys to my heart
You tore it apart
And I never thought we'd end this But you know that I can't stay

Cause there's Too Many Teardrops
I've cried
I could have filled me and ocean
now I am leaving this heartache behind
Cause there's Too Many Teardrops
I've cried

I am not afraid of the fire but I saw the flames getting higher I know we started with sparks but you pushed me too far but I got my eyes wide open and I have to walk away

Cause there's Too Many Teardrops
I've cried
I could have filled me and ocean
now I am leaving this heartache behind
Cause there's Too Many Teardrops
I've cried

I loved you baby nothing can take that away I've tried to tell you I am not a game you can play before I lose my mind it's time to say goodbye

Cause there's Too Many Teardrops
I've cried
I could have filled me and ocean
now I am leaving this heartache behind
Cause there's Too Many Teardrops
I've cried
