

Endless, In The Abyss

Masses of snow high above my head
I didn't know that snow can be black I'm lying on icy ground... the end is coming dark derides me

Black cold makes my finger sway
I let my tears flow down my face long time ago I forgot how taste my voice I gave up that fight

Only occasional laughter of bats and roar of falling avalanche above my head are raping that silence here and I fumble in the dark... the labyrinth without the walls

I'm revolving that scene in my mind when I was falling to the depth with sound of thunders stuned by fear with the hope in my heart they say hope dies last

Long time I crawled Long time I begged for help
I have no power to live anymore life became unbearable

there's nothing worse than loneliness I'm spending my end without pain the feeling, when you know, there's nothing that can help you in the abyss, how long did I stay there?
