

Erase The Grey, The Melting Side

This
Lost emotion has me
Feeling
So shattered and torn
Numbness of my
Deadend senses
From your bitter cold
The smell of this
Emptiness
You were never mine
Never mine to hold
I never wanted more
You broke me, I needed you
You
Said your water would
Wash over me and
Keep me clean
From these potential wounds
And I fled
Abandoned your seed
These things you said
Gave way
To a flood of haunt
To a flood of haunt
No more of this
Pretend you're me
For just one moment
For just one moment
I saw it all
Thrown away
But you never
Looked back any way