

Eric Carmen, I Can Remember

(eric carmen)

I can remember summer skies and your eyes
And in september when I first realized
That I needed you to be the other half of me
And my love long locked inside itself
Had finally been set free

I can remember autumn skies and goodbyes
Hurting so badly that I thought I would die
But the more things seem to change
The more they stay the same
And the lonely ones get lonelier
With every passing day

From the day we met I knew that I should never let you get a hold on me
'cause now you see I can't forget you
Oh i, I can remember mid summer skies
Love in your eyes

In the spring the sun will shine

And make the ice surrender
But it will not warm my heart
As long as I remember
Oh i, I can remember mid summer skies
Love in your eyes

And i, I will remember the times I've cried
Since you said goodbye. I nearly died when you said
"i, I can't let you down any more
So I guess this is goodbye"
What, what did you do it for?
Every time I think of you and him together
I break down and cry

Oh i, I can remember the tears I've cried
Since you said "goodbye"
I, I can remember the tears I've cried
Since you said "goodbye"

I can remember
I can remember
I can remember
