

Face Tomorrow, Live The Dream

LIVE THE DREAM

maybe you still fear for what you like most what feels so close You try to ignore this locked up feeling, you miss the meaning watch out 'cause you can't deny it's your heart without your disguise it's my life, can't you realize what's inside don't be scared to live the dream wake up yourself and start to live the dream the dream, make it real so that you can say that you lived your way for real don't give up on your needs and all your fantasies forgive what you did and just make sure that you choose things for you the life you want, even if it seems hard to reach it all no promise I'll reach it please don't misplace this smile on my face so give me the space I need to fulfill the visions that I like
