Failure, You're Too Much

I love to hear you talk and I love to watch your head move I love to tune you in every night and I love to watch you with ice cream

Chocolate chip, with a little whipped cream I love to hear your opinion and I love to share it with all of my friends I love to feel so informed I love to watch your little mouth

Because you're just too much
The way you smile
The way you dress
The way you stress
Sometimes I get to wondering what it is you're talking about

I love to hear your opinion and I love to share it with all of my friends
I love to'
I love to'
I love to'
But I don't want to
But you're just too much
The way you smile
The way you dress
The way you stress
Sometimes I get to wondering what it is you're talking about

You're just too much I can't control myself The way you stress certain items These things stick out to me, too I love you