

Fiona Apple, I Need You Like A Drug

I don't buy your true life stories 'cause I've seen the way you lie but I don't mind the things you tell me because I know we'll say anything to get by but when we're together somehow I feel better

my disease always tricks me I believe you can fix me

you're insane
I love the drama tell the truth you love it too, I know you do?

reason strikes
we fight and break up
'cause it seems the easiest thing to do but when I don't get your call I go into withdrawal you consume every thought but if you called I would tell you to get lost

I need you like a drug
I need you, I need you like a
I need you, I need you like a drug

it turns me on to say "I love you" but deep inside I know it's lust, not love at all one day we will leave each other but we pretend the end's not inevitable I require protection from my own obsession in the object of you one day I will rise above you

I need you, I need you like a drug
I need you, I need you like a
I need you, I need you like a drug
I need you, I need you like a...

until then we'll stay together I guess things could be much worse I guess things could be much better but I don't really want to write another verse

'cause when we're together somehow I feel better
my disease always tricks me
I believe you can fix me

I need you, I need you like a drug
I need you, I need you like a
I need you, I need you like a drug
I need you, I need you like a drug
