Fireside, Al Tonno Q

I forced myself to go alone Because the clues had told me my mind aint what it was before I feel its passing thru me

I threw my head onto the floor I felt so small

Hanging around like seats in a bus Just being there waiting for it to turn Normality for me is what show to watch Theres so many things that I will never learn

I can try, and I can lie But I cant change my feelings