Flobots, Something Grown Together

Chorus:

something grown together an agreement whether or no the weather is hot or freezing until the day of bereavement something known forever a convergence of lifelines and lifetimes full of wonderings and longings and searchings commitment and devotion an adventure

a kiss to span the oceans when in sickness when healthy tired or injured energy and passion

an investment

entering onto a path intertwined laughing crying and learning lifelong lessons

Verse:

something grown together something grown together something grown together like branches of a banyan tree deeply rooted in family giving life to a canopy much more than a crush more than a brush with where happenstance is standing compatible hearts like raggedy anne and andy bump bump bump bump but the beat changes up when he sees her takkity taka taka taka taka takity takity-

can't believe the rhythm is so in sync and that isn't there only strength they were humming a tune the sun and the moon they didn't know what to think but they were pleased to see these two young souls become mates to provide light for a song that was sung right in one take because there's no need to rehearse when you and your partner get in the zone and you can't memorize words you've always known
