Flogging Molly, Selfish

I don't eat I just devour, everyone in every hour All is me, is all I need and that's all that I care Propelled through all this madness, by your beauty and my sadness I'll never change or rearrange, till I've finished what I've started.

And life leads me here It shows me, I have never really loved no one but me Like the time, you slipped through my hands I'll never understand why I'm such a selfish Man

Walk around me not before me
I'll pretend not to ignore ye
But I'll compromise if I realize you can do something for me
I'm ugly and you know it, but you think that I'm a poet
So I'll keep the rhyme if I feel in time, it gets me where I'm going

And life leads me here It shows me, I have never really loved no one but me Like the time, you slipped through my hands And I'll never understand No I'll never understand, why I'm such a selfish Man

All I heard was an unearthly silence Apart from the violence, explode in my head Where all at once was this moment of beauty No more since it slew me, no never again, again, again

No I'll never understand No I'll never understand, why I'm such a selfish Man