Florence & The Machine, Big God

you need a big god big enough to hold your love you need a big god big enough to fill you up you keep me up at night to my massages, you do not reply you know I still like you the most the best of the best the worst of the worst you can never know the places I can go I still like you the most you always be my favorite god

sometime I thinks it's going better and then it gets much worst is it just a part of the process? Jesus Christ it hurts Though I know I should know better but I can make this work Jesus Christ, Jesus Christ it hurts

shower your affection
let it rain on me
and pull down the mountain drag your cities to the sea shower your affection
don't leave me on this cliff le it slide down to the sea
