Flyleaf, Arise

Tell the swine
We will make it out alive
There's a note in the pages of the book
So Sleep tonight,
We'll sleep dreamlessly this time
When we awake we'll know that everything's alright

And sing to me about the end of the world End of these hammers and needles for you

Hold on to the world we all remember fighting for, There's still strength left in us yet Hold on to the world we all remember dying for, There's still hope left in it yet

The snow on your face, and your razor blades The twilight is bruised and there you lie

And sing to me, about the end of the world End of these hammers and needles for you We'll cry tonight, but in the morning we are new Stand in the sun, we'll dry your eyes

And sing Sing Arise

Arise and be, all that you dreamed

Arise and be, all that you dreamed

Arise and be, all that you dreamed

Arise and be, all that you dreamed
