

Fold Zandura, Valgreen

How can I explain to you
What I am going through
It's such a shame

And how could I have left that girl
I'd walk the world for her
I guess things change
It's not the same

When she cries she says my name
She knows her arms could hold me closer
Believes her love can dry the tears
Falling easy- like rain

Why did she so easily
Fall so in love
That she could not let go
And why did I so carelessly
Let her mean more to me
Than all I know
I loved her so

When she cried she said my name
I know her arms could hold me closer
Believe her love can dry the tears
Falling easy- like rain
