

Gene Clark, Your Fire Burning

Now your hearts on the ground
I&#039;m trying hard to be fair
Someone out of control
Someone who doesn&#039;t care
As you pick up your pride
Put your head in the air
You find it hard to believe
That, that someone would leave
Till it was over
And all I want is you to believe in me
I am your fire burning here
And someday you&#039;ll find out
That you can be free
And break the chains of their despair
Meanwhile your fire is burning here
I can never replace
The time that I didn&#039;t know
You were trying to love
Someone out of control
With your life in my hand
And your in my heart in my soul
Hope that you&#039;ll understand
That my love can&#039;t just be and then be over
And all I want is you to believe in me
I am your fire burning here
Someday you&#039;ll fly away and you&#039;ll be free
And let them go in their despair

Meanwhile your fire is burning, darling
Meanwhile your fire is burning, leave it burning
Meanwhile your fire is burning here

I hope that I do ascend
The pain of losing you when
You were in the control
Of someone out of control
Some where deep in the night
I saw you finding your way
Silhouetted in light
And never having to say,
Say that it&#039;s over
So all I want is you to believe in me
I&#039;m the fire burning here
And someday you&#039;ll find out
That you can be free
And break the chains of their despair

Meanwhile you&#039;re fire is burning, keep it burning
Meanwhile you&#039;re fire is burning, darling
Meanwhile you&#039;re fire is burning here
