

Glen Campbell, Someone Above

See the birds unfolding on the tress see them blossom into leaves
Wise men know someone above has made it so
See the daffodil and crocus there as they bow their heads in prayer
For they know someone above has made it so
When the raindrops fall the flowers grow and the rivers kiss the sea
But there'd be no rain no river flow if there live the fools like me
Man can build his city plan his yard paint a picture called an art
But I know someone above has made it so
When the raindrops fall...
I know someone above has made it so
