Gordon Lightfoot, Never Say Trust Me

The sky above is filled with stars the road is long - no cars are in sight
With one hand on the wheel I've been driving all day I can drive all night
I'm headed for home with one thing on my mind yeah
Every hotel I have seen has arbor-right chairs, arbor right dreams office parties and wedding pals and tacky pictures on the walls

Pretty barmaid to and fro the barman plays the songs we know
She gets into 'twist and shout' and its boozing time and I'm down and out

That's my second home yeah what more can I say lord

You should never say trust me
It's already been done
It's already been done
Beneath the seas beneath the trees and under the sun

Never say trust me
My faith in you is all you need
Love is all I need

The sky above is filled with stars may god bless you is all I can say
Cats and dogs and baby smiles will drive my loneliness away

What will be will be yeah
That is all that I know girl

You should never say trust me
'Cause I know you'll be there
Yes I know you'll be there

I'll be a right as rain can be
This is our love affair

Never say trust me
My faith in you is all you need
Love is all I need

You should never say trust me
It's already been done
It's already been done
Beneath the seas beneath the trees
And under the sun
And under the sun
