Green Day, Father to a Son

You're a lighthouse in a storm From the day that you were born A promise Father to a son

Your mother said it best We will be put to a test A promise Father to a son

Is there anything I can do A wisdom where your heart is heading to A place you want more than I can give Father to a son

Well I made a few mistakes But I'll never break your heart A promise Father to a son

I never knew a love Could be scarier than anger A promise Father to a son

Is there anything I can do A wisdom where your heart is heading to A place you want more than I can give Father to a son

Is there anything I can do A wisdom where your heart is heading to A place you want more than I can give Father to a son

Father to a son