Jeff Deyo, Take Me To You

How long must we wait To see your face How long must we stand here Calling out for you

How far is heaven From the earth How far is the distance From my heart to yours

Right now, take me away from here Away from the cares of this world Right here, come sweep me off my feet Into your open arms

Take me to you, Lord Take me to you, Lord Take me, take me Take me to you, Lord

How loud must we cry For you to come How still must we be To know your presence
