

Jennifer Lopez, Frozen Moments

Love has done a number on my mind
Though I sit and wonder I don't ask why
Some decisions I've made haven't altogether been mine
Now I don't feel a thing, I feel ok

No I'm not bitter, I'm not cold
I'm just frozen for a moment
My vision is impaired, My heart is under repair
What can I say about love
I know what it means to have too little and too much
Crowding my thoughts
What I really want is to not think about it at all

Life is never easy when you need it to be
Desire can deceive you
Its better to daydream
Somewhere deep down inside

I knew it wasn't the right thing
But I didn't want to be wrong
That's a chance you take

No I'm not bitter, I'm not cold
I'm just frozen for a moment
My vision is impaired, My heart is under repair
What can I say about love
I know what it means to have too little and too much
Crowding my thoughts
What I really want is to not think about it at all

What can I say about love
I know what it means to have too little and too much
Crowding my thoughts
What I really want is to not think about it at all
