

Jim Reeves, How Many?

If all the guys you ever knew
Were standing here in front of you
I wonder just how many there would be.

If everyone you ever kissed
Was put on paper in a list
I wonder just how many there would be.

You must have kissed a million
For everywhere we go
You seem so well acquainted
The way they smile and say hello.

If I could count their broken hearts
like I would have if we should part
I wonder just how many there would be.

--- Instrumental ---

If all the guys you ever knew
Were standing here in front of you
I wonder just how many there would be.

If everyone you ever kissed
Was put on paper in a list
I wonder just how many there would be.

You must have kissed a million
For everywhere we go
You seem so well acquainted
The way they smile and say hello.

If I could count their broken hearts
like I would have if we should part
I wonder just how many there would be...