Jimmy Somerville, There's More To Love Than Bo

Red (Somerville/Coles)

I would like to shout it from the highest mountain

To tell the world I've found love and what it means to me

But all around there's violence and laws to make me think again

Maybe one day they will understand

There's more to love than boy meets girl

There's more to love than boy meets girl

For love is strange and uncontrolled, it can happen to anyone

There's more to love than boy meets girl

How can one man decide the fate and destiny of innocent lovers

And why is it less of a crime to take the life of another?

Through time they've always tried to hide and cast aside this love denied

In the shadows we held each other tight

There's more to love than boy meets girl

There's more to love than boy meets girl

For love is strange and uncontrolled, it can happen to anyone

There's more to love than boy meets girl

I saw your face, it caught the light, infatuation swirls inside

My every thought for days was only you

So I'll climb that mountain and shout it loud

I'll never let them bring me down

And one day they will have to understand

There's more to love than boy meets girl

There's more to love than boy meets girl

For love is strange and uncontrolled, it can happen to anyone

There's more to love than boy meets girl

There's more to love than boy meets girl

There's more to love than boy meets girl

For love is strange and uncontrolled, it can happen to anyone

There's more to love than boy meets girl

There's more to love than boy meets girl

There's more to love than boy meets girl

For love is strange and uncontrolled, it can happen to anyone

There's more to love than boy meets girl
