

John Kelly & Maite Itoiz, Nothing really matters

Nothing really matters when the light is gone,
Nothing really matters when your heart is strong,
Nothing really matters when theres still some love,
Nothing really matters, nothing really matters.
Once in a while life hits you hard
And for a moment you feel darkness.
Lift up your head, up to the sky,
Look for the strength to carry on.
Dont give up now (think forward, baby)
Dont give up now (i know its not easy)
Dont give up now (to carry your sorrow)
Dont give up now (go on)
Nothing really matters when the light is gone,
Nothing really matters when your heart is strong,
(oh when your heart is strong)
Nothing really matters when theres still some love,
(when theres still some love)
Nothing really matters, nothing really matters.
Lift up your head, up to the sky,
Look for the strength to carry on.
Dont give up now (think forward, baby)
Dont give up now (i know its not easy)
Dont give up now (to carry your sorrow)
Dont give up now (go on)
Nothing really matters when the light is gone,
Nothing really matters when your heart is strong,
Nothing really matters when theres still some love,
Nothing really matters, nothing really matters