

Keane, Love Actually

You say you've been wondering
Why you're so lonely
I'm not the man to ask, but I
I know it's not easy
When each time you give your heart
Sorrow was never far behind

But it's love, actually love
That you must find
Love, actually love
That you must find

I know it's a long, cold road
And if you can't see your way
I'll be your sight where eyes are blind

For it's love, actually love
That you will find
Love, actually love
That you will find

And if you should think me cold
Born with a heart of stone
Look in my eyes and read my mind

For it's love, actually love
That you will find
Love, actually love
That you will find