

Keith Urban, Coming Home (ft. Julia Michaels)

I wake up feeling in my soul I'm living someone else's life I'm turning into concrete harder than these city streets where no one even cares if I'm alive

I gotta
get in right

there's a place that I know where they all know me I gotta get back now to ones who love me wrap myself around you never let you go
there's nothing in the world that feels like the place that I know where they all know me I gotta get back now to the ones who love me
coming home
home, home,
coming home

I gotta get it right get it right

coming home
home, home,

I know it's only call away but it's not the same
