Lake Of Tears, To Blossom Blue

I'm bleeding in ways of the tire burned I'm crying in ways of the nightbird No more is there one to lay by my s de I'm straying in nightmares all the time

A little something I know A little somewhere I go rem nds me of you

To blossom blue is to blossom without you

I'm breaking but I cannot bear to I'm staring but I cannot see you For no more are you to lay by my side I'm weeping no more then this second time

A little something I know A little somewhere I go Where the sweet waters flow reminds me of you

A little something I know A little somewhere I go Where the sweet waters flow Where the mistletoes grow reminds me of you

To blossom blue is to blossom without you
