

LÉON, Dirt

Somebody once told me, "Change is gonna hurt"
Asked me what the price is, to my self-worth
Lately I've been worried I'm doin' it wrong
No sense of intuition, the pieces gone

On a sandbank, oh
I stared into the sunset, oh
And I made myself a promise, oh
I'll never let it go-o again

I want pain, dirt, passion, and devotion
I want real love, fountains of emotions
Wanna feel the fall, dive into that ocean
Into the heat of the world, till it spits me right out

(Ah-ah, oh-oh-oh)
(Ah)

Somebody once told me, "You can't stay in the past"
"Why are you goin' backwards? You won't get time back"
Been lettin' it slip right outta my hands
Just waitin' on the sidelines, while the world moves fast

On a sandbank, oh
I stared into the sunset, oh
And I made myself a promise, oh
I'll never let it go-o again

I want pain, dirt, passion, and devotion
I want real love, fountains of emotions
Wanna feel the fall, dive into that ocean
Into the heat of the world, till it spits me right out

(Oh-oh-oh)

[Bridge]
I want pain, dirt
A little taste, for what it's worth

I want pain, dirt, passion, and devotion
I want real love, fountains of emotions
Wanna feel the fall, dive into that ocean
Into the heat of the world, till it spits me right out

(Oh-oh-oh)
(Oh-oh-oh)
