

Less Than Jake, Showbiz? Science? Who Cares?

If you had all the facts all the fictions
if you knew everything about science and all about religion would you stand by your convictions would you still make the right decisions would you accept someone else's opinions in this life because whatever it takes to get you by well that's the right things to do in this crazy mixed up life sad or sober or strong or with closed eyes would you still make all the right decisions would you accept someone else's forgiveness in this life because its all a leap of faith from white plastic saints to

to all those hard questions you have to face every single day [5x]

if you had all the facts all the fictions
if you knew everything about science and all about religion
would you stand by your convictions
would you still make the right decisions
would you accept someone else's opinions in this life

because its all a leap of faith
from white plastic saints to
to all those hard questions you have to face
every single day [9x]

I've read all the books and I still don't have all the answers and thats fine whatever it takes to get you by

because its all a leap of faith
from white plastic saints to
to all those hard questions you have to face
every single day [11x]