

Lily Allen, Lost My Mind

I caught some feelings now i sense a change something beautiful has slipped away I let you in and when you disappear like a dying of another day I was never planning on and of this chaos I wasn't being difficult but you still betrayed us now I'm stuck in a rut, kicking stones looking at my phone all night maybe I've lost my mind when I couldn't breath, couldn't sleep and you say it served me right

maybe I've lost my mind

you're on the ceiling I'm down here on the floor keeps me coming back keeps me coming back for more I knew there'd be other girls and I liked the danger once ir twice I've seen your soul we weren't always strangers

I'm stuck in a rut, kicking stones
looking at my phone all night
maybe I've lost my mind
when I couldn't breath, couldn't sleep
and you say it served me right
maybe I've lost my mind

you wouldn't give me clouser let me get off the ride and now I'm getting closer to the other side

I'm stuck in a rut, kicking stones
looking at my phone all night
maybe I've lost my mind
when I couldn't breath, couldn't sleep
and you say it served me right
maybe I've lost my mind

I'm stuck in a rut, kicking stones
looking at my phone all night
maybe I've lost my mind
when I couldn't breath, couldn't sleep
and you say it served me right
maybe I've lost my mind