

Mainstay, Story

I'm sick and tired of blending in and never telling anyone how You set this sinner free You found me living without hope and then You drew me to yourself and Your mercy made me clean

I will tell Your story for the world to hear of Your great love and how it rescued me

You came into the world You made, and then died upon a tree to bring us back to You You're like fire in my bones and like fire in my soul and I can't hold You in anymore

What if nobody told me?
Where would I be without You now?
