

Marysia Stachera, One world of colours

Don't you think That's been too long Drawing these boundary lines

What we all need
It to love
One another standing unified

No matter where I call home
No matter what I promise you

I'll be right there
My heart is open Ready to listen ready to love
we're more like than we are different so take my hand
keep your head up!
