

Mustard Plug, Safe

im another world away my old self locked in a cage inside walls i have to stay just a moment many day what i left behind still lives i can hear it when im still weak connection, lines will cross different lies, we co-exist if i could only take that time fade away and crawl inside i know you worry that im far away atleast you know that im still safe, im safe now again i hear your voice loudest when we havent spoke ringing in my ears drowns out the empty roaring of the crowd im alone most of the time repenting every single crime absolution in a glass but i wake up where i have slept